EVE Vegan® is strongly committed to delivering a certification that makes a real difference. Our dedication lies in upholding international standards that guarantee competence, impartiality and independence of the certifying bodies. With these principles we inspire positive change in consumer and industry behaviour.

Why do we need certification?

There is increasing concern about ethical and environmental issues, meaning the market for vegan products is becoming more and more attractive but remains unregulated.

As a result, distributors, and businesses are often unable to guarantee the promotion and use of authentic vegan products. The word “VEGAN” frequently appears on non-vegan products, misleading consumers significantly and having a negative impact on the animals.

Those who are in search of animal-free products is a wide and varied demographic. However, they all want guarantees.

In the absence of regulation, the EVE Vegan® certification mark is a proof of transparency that attests the control of the product by an independent body.

Our system is rigorous and requires companies to submit a demanding dossier and provide substantial evidence, as well as, undergo on-site audits and regular inspections.

A Growing Market

The demand for vegan products is continuously growing, making the market more appealing, even for those who do not work exclusively in this segment. The EVE Vegan® certification mark is a real opportunity to promote your products and services to ethical consumers, which are growing in number.

The growth of vegan alternatives is driven by three essential factors:

Environment

The climate emergency, pollution from livestock farming, soil acidification, over-consumption of water, zoonoses.

Health

Diseases related to overconsumption (obesity, diabetes, allergies, cardiovascular diseases...).

Animal ethics

The increase of public interest in the respect and welfare of all animals.
